Acrylic Couture panels create illusion

February 13, 2015 / Products

Acrylic Couture utilises acrylic glass panels in a new way, working with the diversity of the innovative material and creating each unique panel by hand.

Numerous panels can be arranged, giving the illusion of a precious paravent-ensemble. Emphasis can then be placed on individual furnishings or areas, creating a fascinating source of inspiration.

All of the meshes and inlays are captured inside the acrylic and float between the poles of visually-soft materiality and solid transparency. Through unique nanoparticles in the acrylic glass, the material composition makes it possible to achieve radiant 3D effects. This is enhanced in the presence of light and LED technology.
